

Session Outline

Session leader: Martha Shaw & Adam Dinham
Co-presenter / accompanying teacher: Conor George, Jack Hunt School, Peterborough
Session title: Innovation Through Co-production: Teachers and researchers working together to generate innovation in religion and worldviews education.
Key questions addressed: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• How are teachers engaging with the CoRE National Entitlement?• How can teachers and researchers work in partnership to develop innovative RE?• What makes innovation possible?• What are the benefits of teacher/researcher partnerships?• How can teachers effectively contribute to on-going curriculum development?
Main content and activities of session: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• We will present the Innovative Spaces of RE for Real project – case studies of innovative RE in 5 schools.• We will explore the process of engagement with research and co-production.• We will reflect on a showcasing event - the benefits for teachers, researchers and the impact on policy development
Links to resources, publications, etc : The case studies will be made available online prior to the event. The following may be useful background reading: https://www.gold.ac.uk/media/documents-by-section/departments/research-centres-and-units/research-units/faiths-and-civil-society/REforREal-web-b.pdf